

Are You Willing?

When you were a kid, and one of your brothers or sisters broke something, and then somehow or other you ended up being blamed, how did that make you feel? I bet you felt something between annoyance and outrage that the so-and-so got away with it and you are the one being punished!

How about now, when we see rioters who burn and destroy entire downtowns of many cities get no punishment at all, but some good guy trying to defend his town gets arrested, sued, and put through hell, just for doing the right thing? Does it make you mad? Does it fry you to see that happen? It fries me, for sure!

Or how about the J6 (January 6, 2021 protest against the election at the Capitol in D.C.) participants who have been held in jail for over 3 years, in terrible conditions, without access to what actual criminals have access to? They are held in virtual solitary confinement, without a trial and without charges. Yes, there are some that actually broke laws, but most of what went on were misdemeanors at worst, so why the jail sentences?

January 6 protesters request to be called "Undocumented Tourists"

Over the weekend, we watched a video about the J6 incident put out by Epoch Times, with the purpose of telling the true story of J6, since the regular media and the government agencies are not, for reasons that serve their own agendas. One participant they interviewed was a man from Texas who felt the Holy Spirit pushing him to go in there and try to help quiet things down. In the video you can watch him try hard to quiet the crowd while helping people who had fallen on the steps and were in danger of being crushed. For his efforts, he is now having to wear an ankle device and is under some kind of indictment or arrest.

Donald Trump has had to fight states that are trying to remove him from the ballot because some leftists and George Soros-related district attorneys claim he is an insurrectionist. He has never been charged for insurrection, much less tried and convicted, but somehow these people take it on themselves to convict him in their own opinions and punish him accordingly.

Do these incidents drive you nuts? Do you want to shout out your anger at these violations of justice? What has happened to our world, that the trust we always had in our institutions has been shattered? If you don't feel that anger, then ask yourself why you don't. At least you should instinctively react to what is obviously "unfair" (said with a whiny, nasal voice). How is it fair to punish people who did no wrong, or who were entrapped into doing something technically wrong, and then to let actual insurrectionists walk free?

Whether or not you believe in or relate to God at all, the Truth is that He is your Creator. He placed your operating system in you (to use a little computer lingo). Embedded in that operating system are His Natural Laws, most of which are expressed in the Ten Commandments - no stealing, no dilly dallying with your friend's wife, no lying, etc. The root of that Natural Law is God's LOVE, His Justice, His Righteousness, all of which translates to how much He cares for You and for His Creation, while He also demands justice and righteousness.

We humans kinda put God in a bind when we rebelled and decided to go our own way. Having been given the freedom to be individually responsible for ourselves, we decided along the way that we are our own god, and we could do what we wanted. Sometimes that turned into really bad stuff, like all the murder and genocide in the twentieth century, committed by Hitler, Stalin, Pol Pot (Cambodia), and more.

This is where Resurrection Day (aka Easter) comes in. One of God's characteristics, as noted above, is of righteousness. I looked up that word on my phone, and this came up: "Acting in accord with divine or moral law. Free from guilt or sin." God's righteousness is so pure and so unattainable that we are all unable to be righteous in His eyes. We stand condemned as fallen humans (John 3:16-18, all 3 verses!), destined for eternity apart from God. Unless.

Unless we humble ourselves and accept His solution to our dilemma. God offers us an exchange. Since the penalty for our fallen human nature is eternal separation in hell, He instead sent His Son Jesus to suffer on our behalf the agony and death that we deserve. Thus the exchange: we beg his forgiveness and offer our wills and our lives to Him, and He gives us eternal life with Him.

Resurrection Day guarantees that exchange. Jesus suffered a horrible death (I hate to even think about it!), but He defeated death on our behalf when He came out of that tomb, and we are given the promised gift of eternal life with Him!

Wow! Can you believe it? Of course you know all the bad stuff you've done, all the bad thoughts, all the times you've wished you could undo or unsay something. And you (and I) can't seem to stop doing or thinking this or that. It's so frustrating to me, at least, to have to live with myself. Ewww.

So be glad! There IS a way out! Resurrection Day says it all! Make the exchange with God and all the bad stuff will no longer be held against you! Give your life to God and it will be a New Life, still human, but growing closer to God daily, and with the Peace that only He can give, in the midst of life's turmoil!

Happy Resurrection Day! Happy Eternal Life Day (if you're willing)!

Donald Trump Version

SATIRE!

YUGE NEWS!

Zondervan has finally unveiled the Donald Trump Version of the Bible, finally giving freedom-loving Americans the chance to hear God's Word in the most beautiful, tremendous way ever!

The Babylon Bee has obtained an advance copy and can reveal the ten most inspiring verses:

- John 11:35 - "Jesus Wept. Which I have never done, by the way. Never wept. Not a weeper."
- Nehemiah 6:15-16 - "So the wall, the big, beautiful wall was finished on the 25th day of the month, finished in just 52 days. Everyone said I couldn't do it, but I did. Our enemies were shocked, believe me. And the Babylonians paid for it."
- Leviticus 19:27 - "Do not cut the hair at the sides of your head, but rather let it grow long and golden, and swirl it across the top."
- John 14:2-6: "In My Father's house are many rooms, just like Mar-a-Lago, rooms worth a lot more than $18 million, let me tell you that."
- Mark 1:15 - "The kingdom of God has come near. Repent and believe the good news. Not the fake news like CNN. They're terrible, folks."
- Daniel 3:1 - "King Nebuchadnezzar made a golden idol. It was so small. Only sixty cubits high. That's what they said. So much smaller than my towers. Sad!"
- Romans 12:19 - "Vengeance is mine on my first day back in office, saith Donald Trump."
- Jeremiah 29:11 - "For I know the plans I have for you, unbelievable plans to bless you bigly. Yuge unbelievings. So tremendous. You'll get tired of blessings, believe me."
- Genesis 3:1 - "Now the serpent was more crafty than any other beast of the field. So clever, folks. 'Lyn' Lucifer,' I like to call him."
- Two Corinthians 5:17 - "Therefore, if anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation. The old has passed away; behold, the new has come. So much winning. Everyone says so."
